Stay at home when having flu-like symptoms to prevent the expansion of novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19).

For students Flow chart for COVID-19 control

When you have flu-like symptoms such as fever/cough/strong sluggishness of whole body/sore throat/breathlessness

- Call the Returnee and Contact Consultation Center*3 and follow their instructions
- If you are instructed to take a medical examination at hospital, report to the University Health Center
- When you take a medical examination, avoid contacting people and wear a face mask

Report to the University by e-mail (Contact list at the bottom*1), and stay at home

- Record your body temperature and symptoms on the Self-Monitoring Sheet everyday
- If you don’t have a thermometer at home, buy one immediately

You are under either of the conditions 1.-3. below
1. Having either strong breathlessness, sluggishness, or high fever
2. Having a higher risk of developing severe disease when infected*2
3. Relatively slight flu-like symptoms such as fever and cough continue for 4 days or longer, or you feel such symptoms are strong even if 4 days haven’t passed

 Had relatively slight flu-like symptoms and recovered within 3 days

1. 8 days have passed counting from the day following the date that the symptoms appeared
2. 3 days have passed counting from the day following the date that you got normal body temperature and all the symptoms disappeared when you don’t take cold medicine or fever reducer

If you meet the conditions 1. and 2. above, submit the Self-Monitoring Sheet to the University by e-mail (Contact list at the bottom*1)

Finish recuperation at home
